11.09.2026 & 12.09.2026 - St Xavier's College successfully concluded Smart India Hackathon, which was organized by then Postgraduate and Research Department of Computer Science. In full alignment with directives established by the Ministry of Education, Government of India, the Ministry of Education's Innovation Cell, and the All India Council for Technical Education, the event served as the mandatory institutional qualifier for the nationwide initiative. The internal round was convened under the administrative leadership and supervision of Dr. Romit Beed, College Single Point of Contact and Head of the Postgraduate and Research Department of Computer Science. Conduction was executed entirely in offline mode across Room 207 and the Chapel Room, utilizing centralized digital intake followed by rigorous in-person prototype demonstrations and structured viva voce technical defenses.

Participation throughout the internal hackathon was governed by strict adherence to the single-institution integrity guidelines outlined by national authorities. The event engaged 126 student innovators organized into 21 six-member teams, all of whom were verified as bona fide, full-time enrolled students of St. Xavier's College. The participating cohort represented a multidisciplinary blend across four academic departments, namely Computer Science, Data Science, Statistics, and Physics. Strict adherence to institutional guidelines ensured that no external or inter-college participants were permitted. Furthermore, all 21 squads complied completely with the statutory female representation mandate, engaging 45 female innovators across the cohort to achieve an exemplary 35.71% female participation rate across all competing teams.

12.09.2026 - Postgraduate & Research Department of Sociology organised an Invited Lecture on Fluid Institution Solid Extraction: Cultural Misrecognition and Inclusive Illegality in Post-Left Bengal.

The colloquium began with the felicitation of the speaker by Prof. Dr. Shoma Chaudhuri Lahiri of the Department of Sociology, SXC.

The seminar, which included students from the speaker's college, focused on the decades long research findings of Dr. Nath on the political Organisation of the different electoral parties which have been in power in Bengal since the CPI(M) government.

The Speaker elaborated on his multi-sited ethnographic work which dealt with local mechanisms of political domination, primarily in rural Bengal.

Firstly, he elucidated on his research findings such as his analysis while being a participant observer of the Gram Sabha proceedings during the reign of TMC, stating the changes he observed from the Left rule. Then, he spoke on how a culture of 'dadas' as political enforcers as well as go-to-men for the public for fixing local issues, was utilised by different governments in different manners.

Additionally, he shed light on how to identify and contact a "dada" and the inclusive nature of the position with the characteristic markers being those of hyper masculinity etc.

16.09.2026 - The Department of Arts and Science organised The Stage.

Talk on: 'Your DH and My DH': Epistemic Enquiries into Indian Digital Humanities. From its initiation in India around the early 2000s, Digital Humanities, known variously as Digi Hum and DH, has been on the fringes of Humanities and Social Sciences research with a sense of much promise. There have been multiple conferences on Digital Humanities, in locations all over the country such as Kolkata, Indore, Bengaluru and Aligarh. There is also an informal research group, DHARTI, that conducts regular discussions over WhatsApp. There have also been various courses, both at undergraduate and postgraduate levels, launched in both government and private universities and finally, a slew of DH projects has been completed in various parts of the country. Nevertheless, there remains a major gap in the thinking around DH pedagogy, project collaboration and research in general in India. Arguably, such a lacuna also reveals a need for epistemic thinking around DH in India. As a commentator states '[a]t Digital Diversity 2015, [Indian DH scholar] Padmini Ray Murray insisted, "Your DH is not my DH—and that is a good thing." Claire Warwick reiterated this idea in her DHSI 2015 keynote speech, suggesting that local institutions and cultures are critical to digital humanities practice' (Risam 2016). While this is of paramount importance in either moving DH away from or expanding what is known as 'the big tent' in the field, the question that arises is what is "my DH" and how is it even different from "Your DH"? In their article on the thematic interests of the ADHO, the premier DH conference, Weingart and Eichman-Kalwara (2017) admit that "Digital Humanities" is a fraught term, on whose definition rests funding decisions, tenure lines, and institutional power dynamics'.

19.09.2026 - Xaverian Theatrical Society of St. Xavier's College (Autonomous), Kolkata, successfully hosted its annual flagship theatre workshop, KHWAAB 2026. Held in Xavier Hall, the event brought together aspiring creators for an intensive day of live masterclasses. Centered on the theme "Into the Unknown," the workshop challenged participants to transcend familiar creative boundaries, providing a space where the silver screen met the proscenium to explore the infinite possibilities of human imagination.

The event commenced with an inaugural address by Vice Principal Professor Bertram Da Silva, who transported the audience on an auditory journey to experience Shakespeare's brilliance live at the Globe Theatre, setting a deeply reflective tone for the sessions to follow. This was followed by an enrapturing opening address by the Secretary of the Society, defending authentic human creativity, highlighting that while Generative AI might replicate artifice, true theatrical brilliance remains an inherently human craft.

20.09.2026 - Ripples of Hope: SXCCAA Deccan Chapter Philanthropy Drive at Hyderabad

As part of the SXCCAA Deccan Chapter Meet, members of the St. Xavier's College (Calcutta) Alumni Association carried out a heartwarming philanthropy drive under the banner of "Ripples of Hope" at St. Jude India ChildCare Centre in Begumpet, Hyderabad. The centre serves as a caring haven for over thirty children aged 0 to 15 bravely battling cancer alongside their parents, with an adjacent facility housing another sixty terminally ill children. Led by Chief Guest Rev. Dr. Dominic Savio, SJ, Principal of St. Xavier's College (Autonomous), Kolkata and President of SXCCAA, the visiting delegation included Honorary Secretary Sanjib Koner, Deccan Chapter Coordinator Rakesh Singhanian, Ranoj Mukherjee, and Upasana Law.

Following full compliance with St. Jude's Child Protection and POSH safety policies, the team spent meaningful time interacting with the families and distributed essential rations, hygiene kits, and creative supplies, including a large pack of Surf Excel, bottles of Dettol, bananas, sweet lemons, apples, papaya, packs of A4 paper, packs of whiteboard markers, and boxes of crayons.

Addressing the gathering, Rev. Dr. Dominic Savio, SJ, shared an inspiring message: "True to our Xaverian calling of being men and women for and with others, our presence here today is a reminder that even the smallest act of kindness can ignite boundless hope. These brave young children teach us profound courage and resilience. As an institution and an alumni fraternity, our mission goes far beyond academic excellence - it lives in walking alongside those who suffer, sharing their burdens, and letting love and empathy create ripples of hope and healing and light in their lives."

23.09.2026 - An Internship Orientation Programme was organised by the Department of Arts and Science, for the first-year students at Fr. Depelchin Auditorium. The programme was conducted in two sessions: 11:00 a.m.–12:30 p.m. for the Arts and Humanities departments and 1:30–2:30 p.m. for the Science departments.

Under the guidance of the Vice Principal, Prof, Bertram Da Silva, the programme was conducted by the Internship Nodal Officer, Dr. Durba Bhattacharya, who provided an overview of the internship rules, requirements, and the process to be followed by students. Dr. Romit Beed, Head, Department of Computer Science, conducted a session on using LinkedIn effectively for finding internship opportunities. He discussed creating a professional profile, networking, and using the platform to explore relevant opportunities. He also explained the requirements related to co-curricular credits.

Current students from different departments shared their internship experiences with the first- year students, offering practical insights into finding opportunities, applying for internships, and making the most of the experience. The student speakers were Aadit Bose (Department of Microbiology), Abhirup Roy (Department of Political Science), and Pratanu Chowdhury and Reet Roy Chowdhury (Department of Statistics).

Pramesh Chakraborty, Department of Chemistry, served as the Emcee for the programme. The programme aimed to familiarise first-year students with the internship requirements and provide them with practical guidance on identifying opportunities, building professional profiles, and preparing for their internship journey.

24.09.2026 - The Department of Statistics, St. Xavier's College (Autonomous), Kolkata, organised Epsilon Delta'26, its annual departmental event. It brought together a vibrant blend of academic exploration, intellectual competition, strategic thinking, and celebration. With the theme "Quantifying Possibilities", this year's edition sought to capture the many ways in which statistics extends beyond numbers—into reasoning, decision-making, curiosity, and the understanding of an increasingly complex world.

Epsilon Delta'26 was more than a single-day academic gathering. It was a carefully curated experience that brought together students, faculty, and participants through a diverse range of activities, each reflecting a different dimension of statistical thought. From the anticipation of the morning registration to the energy of the final cultural programme, the day unfolded as a celebration of everything that makes the study of statistics both rigorous and exciting.

24.09.2026 - The second P. Lal Memorial Lecture was organised by the Postgraduate and Research Department of English.

The lecture, titled “Tagore: Home and the World”, was delivered by Professor Chinmoy Guha, Professor Emeritus of English, University of Calcutta. The afternoon began, fittingly, with another teacher and another world of connections. Professor Purushottam Lal, the St. Xavier’s alumnus who later taught in its English Department for more than four decades, was remembered by Guha, his student in the early 1970s, as a professor whose sonorous lectures made distant things suddenly speak to one another. Guha likened him to the “magic lantern” of Ingmar Bergman’s autobiographical reflections. A lecture on Coleridge could lead, in Lal’s classroom, to Satyajit Ray’s Aranyer Din Ratri, where the question “Have you never suffered?” becomes more than a line of dialogue. Literature, in such a classroom, did not remain enclosed within books. It opened windows into cinema, memory and human experience.

Lal’s own literary legacy made Tagore an especially fitting presence at his memorial. With Shyamasree Devi, he transcreated Tagore’s final collection, Śeṣ Lekha, as Tagore’s Last Poems, published by Writers Workshop. Bengali and English, original and translation, home and world were therefore already woven into the life being remembered.

24.09.2026 - Department of Social Work, National Service Scheme (NSS) & Unnat Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) organised 57th NSS Day.

30 NSS volunteers observed NSS Day with approximately 50 girls from Navjeevan Kolkata (an NGO working for at-risk girls) through an engaging programme centred on empowerment, education, and community well-being. To inspire and empower the girls, the volunteers shared the life journeys and achievements of Kalpana Chawla, Savitribai Phule, and Anandibai Joshi. Their remarkable stories encouraged the participants to aspire towards greater goals, cultivate self-confidence, and face life's challenges with determination and resilience.

At the end of the programme, Praveen Bano, a student of Class 8, shared "Aaj maine seekha ki hum sab log mushkilon ka saamna kartehain, aur yehzaroori bhi hotahai ki hum unkaaatmavishwas ke saathsaamna karein. Aajmujhe sabhi bhaiya aurdidi ne yeh ehsaas karaya ki main zaroori hoon, aur agar main thaan loon, toh main kuch bhi paasakti hoon." (Today, I learnt that all of us face hardships and it is important to face it with confidence. The bhaiyas and didis helped me realise that I am important and I can achieve anything I set my mind to). While on the other hand, Akshat Rungta, a volunteer reflected, "I learnt that instead of criticising the smallest mistakes in life, or focussing on what we don't have, we should appreciate what we have, keep smiling and make the most of the opportunities we receive. Being grateful and happy for what we have helps us to overcome many of our problems"

25.09.2026 & 26.09.2026 - Postgraduate Department of History, St Xavier's College (Autonomous), Kolkata, is going to organized a Two-day International Seminar in association with the Postcolonial Studies Association of the Global South.

1. Critically examine grief and mourning as significant analytical categories within the humanities and social sciences, moving beyond their treatment as merely private emotions or ritual practices.

2. Interrogate the relationship between grief, violence, trauma and power, with particular attention to war, displacement, marginalization, authoritarianism, and the unequal recognition of suffering.

3. Explore grief as a form of historical and cultural knowledge through archives, memory, testimony, literature, poetry, art, performance, ritual and other forms of cultural expression.

4. Foreground marginalized and interrupted experiences of mourning, including gendered grief, subaltern memory, forced displacement, colonial and postcolonial violence, and experiences that remain socially or politically "ungrievable."

5. Examine the political and ethical dimensions of mourning, including questions of grievability, collective memory, resistance, recognition, and the politics of whose suffering is publicly acknowledged.

6. Revisit changing forms of grief and mourning in relation to ecological crisis, digital memorialization, contemporary literature, popular culture and new media.

7. Engage with diverse intellectual and cultural vocabularies of grief, including melancholia, lamentation, shoka, bishad, karuna, elegy, tragedy and related conceptual traditions.

8. Foster interdisciplinary dialogue among scholars working in history, literature, sociology, cultural studies, gender studies, political thought, environmental humanities and allied fields.

26.09.2026 - Circle of Joy: A Drive of Giving and Sharing

Circle of Joy, the annual clothes donation drive initiated by the Postgraduate Department of Education. The initiative received generous support from almost all departments of the College, with both new and pre-loved clothes.

The students of the Department collected the clothes over a period of three months and carefully sorted them for distribution among various organizations working for the underprivileged. The collected clothes were subsequently donated to Ashabari, Keoradanga; a home for the destitute; and St. Michael's Church, Santragachhi.

The initiative reflected the spirit of sharing, compassion, and service, while encouraging the College community to extend a helping hand to those in need. It also reinforced the values of empathy, social responsibility, and collective action that lie at the heart of the Department's community engagement initiatives.

26.09.2026 - Department of Mathematics, organised Analytica 2026, the annual academic fest of the Department of Mathematics.

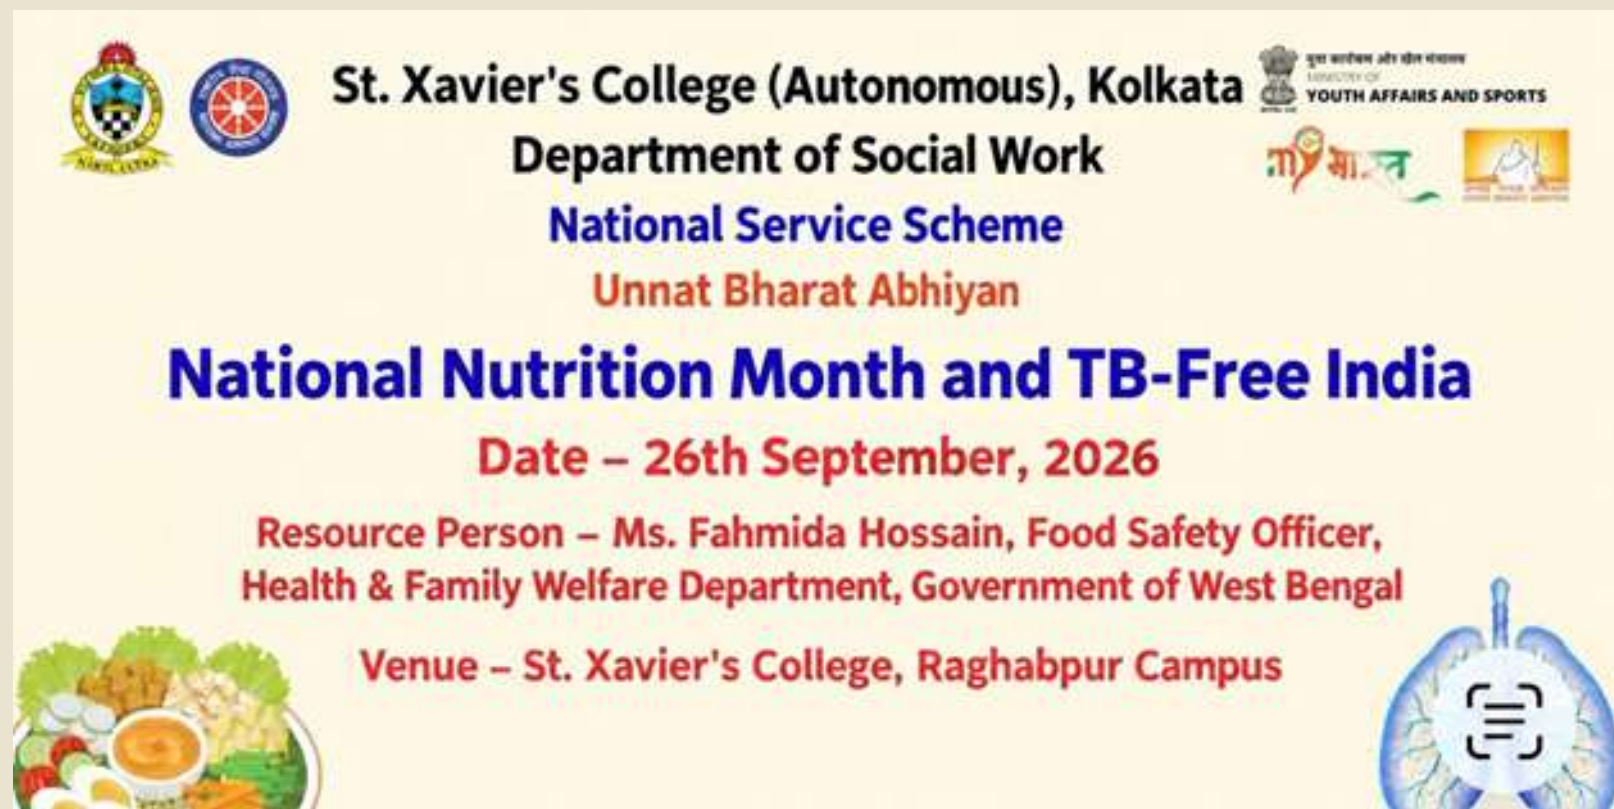

Theme “From Roots to Realities.” The event highlighted the progression of mathematics from foundational ideas to its contemporary role in science, technology, and problem-solving.

More than 150 participants from St. Xavier's College and institutions including Jadavpur University, the Institute of Engineering & Management, and Calcutta University attended the event. The programme began at 10:00 a.m. and concluded at approximately 4:30 p.m.

Sessions and Performances

Dr. Munshi delivered the keynote lecture, “Can Machines Do Mathematics? – The Recent Influence of AI on Mathematics.” The talk traced the role of computers from mathematical computation to pattern discovery, reasoning, proof generation, and formal verification. An interactive Q&A session allowed participants to examine both the possibilities and limitations of artificial intelligence in mathematics.

Musical and dance performances were presented during the inaugural, post-seminar, and closing sessions, adding a creative and celebratory dimension to the academic programme.

26.09.2026 & 27.09.2026 - NSS Unit I, in collaboration with the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Cell, organised an awareness programme on Rashtriya Poshan Maah and TB mukht bharat for approximately 70 rural women and 30 NSS volunteers. The programme aimed to promote nutritional literacy, health awareness, and informed decision-making among community members, thereby strengthening the foundation for a healthier and more resilient society.

The resource person for the session was Ms. Fahmida Hossain, Food Safety Officer, Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, Government of West Bengal, who sensitised the participants on critical issues related to nutrition and food safety.

On 27th September, 70 NSS volunteers sensitised around 150 rural children of Hogulkuria, Nurshikdarchowk and Shalpokur villages on Rashtriya Poshan Maah focusing on the importance of balanced diet and its effect on overall health and wellbeing. The children also learnt about TB and its connection with malnutrition.

26.09.2026 - Take Charge: A Capacity-Building Workshop for First Year Undergraduate Students.

The Socio-Economically Disadvantaged Groups (SEDG) Cell organized “Take Charge: A Capacity-Building Workshop for First Year Undergraduate Students” at the Raghampur Campus of St. Xavier's College (Autonomous), Kolkata. Envisioned as the first of a series of capacity-building workshops for first year undergraduate students that would help bridge the gap between college learning and real-world skills, the first workshop was held on 29th August 2026 for students of the Arts departments. A second workshop was conducted on 26th September 2026 for Commerce students.

The Capacity-Building Workshops, curated and ably led by Ms. Cheryl Francis, Director of Social Work, NSS and UBA, of St. Xavier's College (Autonomous), Kolkata, were designed to support the overall development of students by helping them to better understand themselves, build confidence, and develop essential life skills. The key aim of the programme was to create greater self-awareness among students by enabling them to identify their strengths, understand their personality traits, and recognize areas for personal growth.

The dynamic facilitation and interactive workshop exercises drew participants into active engagement and a group learning experience. Conducted through a combination of ice-breaking activities, self-reflection exercises, group discussions, sharing sessions, and presentations, the workshops focused on enhancing communication skills, promoting self-esteem and developing a positive attitude towards challenges. The students were led to an honest and creative reflection on overcoming personal barriers and furthering personal development.

27.09.2026 - St. Xavier's College (Autonomous) Kolkata |Raghabpur Campus, Students' Visited to Indian Museum and Victoria Memorial Hall.

A group of thirteen students from Under-Graduate Semester I batch of the Postgraduate and Research Department of Bengali (Raghabpur campus), accompanied by Professors Shriya Dutt and Subrata Sinha, visited the Indian Museum and the Victoria Memorial Hall. The students began their tour of the Indian Museum at 10.30 am, where they primarily focused on Painting, Textile and Archaeological galleries. At the Bharhutgallery, they focused on the ancient Indian sculptures depicting the life of Buddha and tried to understand the development of depicting narratives in painted forms in the Mughal and Kangra miniature paintings, up to the age of the modern masters like Abanindranath Tagore, Gaganendranath Tagore, Sunayani Devi, Nandalal Bose, and Jamini Roy. They also noted with intent the fusion of various artistic techniques and processes that ensued in works of the 'Bengal School', FPhoto courtesy: ShriyaDutt 'Santiniketan style and the ubiquitous genius of Jamini Roy. They also visited the textile gallery to get a firsthand glimpse at the various indigenous weaving traditions. Interested students also had a glimpse of the Geological and the Zoological galleries.

29.09.2026 - The Xaverian Film Academy (XFA) of St. Xavier's College (Autonomous), Kolkata, successfully organised Cinescope 2.0. to commemorate the 100th birth anniversary of legendary Bengali actor Uttam Kumar, fondly known as the Mahanayak of Bengali cinema. The event was planned as a tribute to his enduring contribution to Bengali cinema and aimed to provide students and cinema enthusiasts with an opportunity to engage with his work through film screenings and meaningful discussion.

The main programme included screenings of Satyajit Ray's Nayak and Ajoy Kar's Saptapadi. The two films presented different aspects of Uttam Kumar's artistry and contribution to Bengali cinema. Nayak offered an introspective portrayal of a successful film actor, exploring themes of fame, ambition and the complexities behind a public persona, while Saptapadi explored themes of love, faith and social barriers through the iconic pairing of Uttam Kumar and Suchitra Sen. The selection allowed the audience to experience different dimensions of Uttam Kumar's performances and the cinematic era he represented.
