

POLITICS AND GOVERNANCE IN INDIA

1. Define and differentiate between the various approaches to the study of Indian politics, including institutional, systemic, and cultural perspectives.
2. Analyze the key features of state politics in select states of India, such as West Bengal, and evaluate the impact of regional dynamics on national governance.
3. Evaluate the contemporary debates surrounding migration, refugee issues, and citizenship rights in India, with a focus on the implications for governance and policy-making.
4. Critically examine the role of identity politics in shaping political discourse and decision-making in India, and assess its impact on governance at the local and national levels.
5. Evaluate the structure and functioning of local governance in India, with a specific focus on the case of West Bengal, including the role of local bodies, power dynamics, and challenges faced in implementing effective governance.
6. Apply critical thinking skills to analyze case studies and real-world examples of local governance practices in West Bengal, and evaluate their effectiveness in promoting citizen participation and development outcomes.
7. Synthesize theoretical frameworks and empirical evidence to propose recommendations for improving local governance practices in West Bengal, with a focus on enhancing accountability, transparency, and decision-making processes.
8. Assess the role of political parties, civil society organizations, and other stakeholders in influencing local governance outcomes in West Bengal, and evaluate the implications for democratic governance in the state.

Select Language ▼

Powered by Google Translate

