

WORLD POLITICS AND GLOBAL POLITICAL ECONOMY (II)

---

1. Remembering:

- Recall key theories in international political economy such as liberalism, mercantilism, and structuralism.
- Remember significant historical events and their impact on global political economy.

2. Understanding:

- Understand the complex interplay between states, markets, and non-state actors in the global economy.
- Explain the concept of regional economic integration and its implications for global governance.

3. Applying:

- Apply theoretical frameworks to analyze contemporary issues in world politics and global political economy.
- Apply critical perspectives to assess the impact of globalization on different regions and populations.

4. Analyzing:

- Analyze the power dynamics within international institutions such as the IMF, World Bank, and WTO.
- Critically evaluate the role of gender, migration, and labor in shaping the global economy.

5. Evaluating:

- Evaluate the effectiveness of regional formations in promoting economic development and cooperation.
- Assess the impact of neoliberal policies on income inequality and social justice.

6. Creating:

- Develop strategies for managing the global economy in a more sustainable and equitable manner.
- Propose innovative solutions for addressing key challenges in international political economy, such as climate change and financial instability.

Select Language ▼

Powered by  Google Translate

